

Read with your Ears!

Great audiobooks
for young readers.

Grades 4 - 5

Dragon Rider by Cornelia Funke, narrated by Brendan Fraser
Dragons are being threatened and must return to their ancestral home. But where is it? Actor Brendan Fraser creates a diverse cast of human and magical characters to delight listeners.

Gregor the Overlander by Suzanne Collins, narrated by Paul Boehmer
Reluctant hero, Gregor, follows his little sister down the laundry room drain to discover that he has must play central part in saving humankind from the terrible warrior rats of Underland. Boehmer gives personality to every creature, even the cockroaches!

Igraine the Brave by Cornelia Funke, narrated by Xanthe Elbrick
Poor Igraine. She comes from a long line of magicians, but all she wants is to become a knight. Xanthe Elbrick's splendid variety of voices enlivens the entire kingdom as Igraine puts her training to the test.

Into the Land of the Unicorn by Bruce Coville, narrated by Bruce Coville and the Full Cast Family
A mysterious amulet sends Cara off to the magical world of Luster, where each fantastical creature and every perilous adventure comes alive through the voices of the full cast.

James and the Giant Peach by Roald Dahl, narrated by Jeremy Irons
A perfect sense of pitch and timing make Jeremy Irons' reading of Dahl's classic a real treat. Join James and some remarkable insects as he escapes his abusive aunts by fleeing inside a giant peach.

Marley: A Dog Like No Other by John Grogan, narrated by Neil Patrick Harris
Harris must be a dog-lover! His affection for Marley shines through his performance of this adaptation for children of Grogan's Marley and Me. The whole family will laugh and cry along with this one.

Moving Day, Allie Finkle's Rules for Girls, Book 1 by Meg Cabot, narrated by Tara Sands
Sands' vocal recreation of Allie and her world will make listeners think they've tumbled right into Allie's life as the rule-loving nine-year-old deals with losing and making new friends.

No Talking by Andrew Clements, narrated by Keith Nobbs
The 5th grade "unshushables" declare a war of silence when the boys and girls challenge each other to see which can say the fewest words. Nobbs' narration brings out all the humor of both students and staff in this engaging school story.

Over Sea, Under Stone (Book 1 of the Dark Is Rising sequence) by Susan Cooper, narrated by Alex Jennings
When the Drew children discover an ancient map in their vacation home, they join forces with their Great Uncle Merry to defeat the forces of the Dark. British actor Jennings brings considerable skill to his reading, heightening the tension of the first book in this classic fantasy series.

The Problem with the Puddles by Kate Feiffer, narrated by Halley Feiffer
Heading back to the city from their vacation home in the country, the Puddles realize they have left their dogs behind. The hilarious alternate stories of the Puddles and their dogs, Big Sally and Little Sally, are narrated to perfection through Halley Feiffer's creation of every eccentric character – each one sillier and more bizarre than the next.

The Ruins of Gorlan, Ranger's Apprentice, Book 1 by John Flanagan, narrated by John Keating
Hoping to become a knight, Will is apprenticed instead to a Ranger, and discovers that he excels at the stealth and cunning needed for members of this corps that keeps the kingdom safe. Keating easily differentiates among the many characters that gather in this battle of good against evil.

